Trib Tournament stalwart says goodbye to committee work but not the game

By Joe Barkovich

Just call him “Mr. Loyalty”.

With more than 30 years involvement with the Welland Tribune Basketball Tournament under his belt, John Witlib retired from the tournament committee last fall.

John Witlib displays tournament program books from the past few years. The books will become prized by collectors because fewer hard copies are being printed.

We talked about his service, his commitment, his passion over hot chocolate at a local Tim’s.

“I love basketball. I love watching it,

I love playing it,” he said.

He was invited to “help out” on the All-Star Selection Committee in 1989 by chair Jack Randall. He stayed up to and including 2005, the year of the “magical” 50th anniversary tournament, as Witlib dubbed it.

It didn’t end there.

“When Ab Longo retired as treasurer someone else sort of filled in, then they (the committee) asked me to take over,” Witlib recalled. He stayed on as treasurer for 18 years before turning over the books in November.

Add to that a three-year stint as co-chair following the retirement of the late Bob Muir.

All told, his involvement with the tournament totalled 34 years.

Witlib, who is soft-spoken and polite by nature, said he stayed on so long simply because he relished everything about the experience.

Trib Tournament stalwart says goodbye to committee work but not the game

“Attending meetings was fun. Helping at the tournament was fun. There’s a mystique about our tournament, it was always so enjoyable for me.”

He praises its role in the community, speaking not only as a long-time committee member but also a former participant. Back in the mid-1960s, Witlib played on three championship teams with the Notre Dame Fighting Irish.

“So I think I can say our tournament brings people together. It fosters community spirit and pride. The rivalry between the schools, it showcases it.”

These days, there’s nothing quite like a game, especially a championship game, between Centennial and Notre Dame, in Witlib’s opinion. Though retired, he’ll be back in the gym, continuing to watch the action.

“You have people from Centennial on one side of the gym, people from ND on the other side. It’s emotional, it’s electric, it’s an exciting time for everyone. It gets people cheering for their team. What a great night out.”

Witlib said he stepped down from the committee because it was time to leave.

“I’m getting old,” the 77-year-old said with a smile, “it was time to go. Besides, if you stay around too long, you’re not going to get new members and you need new blood on committees to keep them going.”

I asked if there are memories he holds dear. The tournament’s 50th anniversary in 2005 came to mind instantaneously.

“It was just magical,” Witlib said, “the crowd loved it. Everything about it was so good.”

A second memory involved the 1966 tournament championship game.

Witlib scored a late basket giving Notre Dame a seven-point lead on Eastdale. But the Eagles clawed their way back scoring the next six points. The Irish ended up winning, 63-62. Witlib’s basket turned out to be the game-winner. “For me, that’s a very special Tribune Tournament memory.”

He’s optimistic about the tournament’s future.

“As long as kids want to play basketball, there will be a tournament”

he predicted. "Sports are pretty everlasting."

He's proud of the tournament scholarship awards that go back to 1970.

"Over the years we've given over $100,000 in scholarships. That's the main focus of the tournament, giving scholarships to kids."

Tournament co-chair Don Larman said Witlib provided "leadership and support" to the committee through steadfast involvement over the years.

"John was always willing to step up and do what was in the best interests of the tournament. He was always eager to hear what other people had to say and contribute to the tournament," said Larman.

Describing Witlib as a "passionate ambassador" for the tournament, Larman said he will miss Witlib's great memory of the history of the tournament and his stories of former players and games.

Witlib will miss being a member and attending the two committee meetings that are held each year, he said. He especially enjoyed the camaraderie.

"It's the friendship. I developed a lot of good friendships there, they're going to last forever."

With sentiment and emotion teaming up as the clock ran down, Witlib said: "I've enjoyed every minute of it. I look forward to it every year."

What a great end-of-interview quote. But it didn't turn out that way.

Just as we were getting ready to leave, Witlib recalled yet another high school hoops involvement. Omitting it would have constituted a flagrant foul to some.

He said he was a member and treasurer of the girls tournament committee too.

He said he served from 2006 to 2021.

Caesar Hajdu Coaches Award

Julius “Caesar” Hajdu at a 2018 Trib Tournament game in Notre Dame’s Dillon Hall. Daughter Cheryl is in the background.

The family of Julius “Caesar” Hajdu has initiated the Caesar Hajdu Coaches Award in his memory and honor. Mr. Hajdu passed Monday, October 12, 2020, in his 100th year.

The $200 bursary will go to the coach of the winning team in the annual tournament. There will also be a permanent trophy and a “keeper” trophy for the winning coach.

The award is in recognition of Mr. Hajdu’s involvement with basketball in Welland, an affiliation dating back to 1955 when he started Church League basketball in the city and was a coach. It is also in recognition of his enjoyment of and attendance at the Tribune Tournament. He missed attendance at only two of 65 tournaments over the years. So revered a fan, basketball coach and mentor to many was Mr. Hajdu that at games played at Notre Dame’s Dillon Hall, reserved seating four rows above courtside awaited his arrival, courtesy of the principal at the time, Ralph DeFazio.

Bob Tomiuck, a long-time member of the All-Star Selection Committee (1997-2019) and the Tribune Tournament Committee (2007-2019), passed away suddenly on December 19, 2019. Bob volunteered much of his time to the Trib Tourney and worked tirelessly behind the scenes for the betterment of the tournament. Examples of his volunteer work are the tournament Draw Board displayed in the foyer at Notre Dame during the tournament and the trophy case at the Seaway Mall.

The Boys' Tournament Committee has established an award in Bob's memory. The Bob Tomiuck – Sixth Man Bursary will be presented annually to a player from the tournament who has played in a minimum of 2 Boys' Tribune Tournaments, who has shown leadership in supporting his teammates, program and school.

Tribune photographer's tournament coverage spanned four decades

By Joe Barkovich

Cec Mitchell, the Tribune photographer who covered the inaugural Tribune Tournament in 1955 and then every one after until his retirement in 1995, passed away May 21, 2023, aged 92.

Mr. Mitchell looked forward to the annual tournament and loved shooting action shots and feature pictures at the games.

Wayne Redshaw, a former sports editor at the newspaper, has memories of Mr. Mitchell leaving the newsroom with more than one camera dangling from his neck. Often, Mr. Mitchell's parting words were: "I'll be back when I'm back," another Tribune staffer recalled.

"The Tribune Tournament was his baby. It was special for him. He looked forward to covering it every year, especially the final night. Having two or three cameras with him was not unusual," Redshaw recalled.

"He always went that extra mile and I could always expect a variety of pictures to select for publishing. We usually ran a picture page in addition to the regular sports pages on the Monday (after the tournament) and Cec usually laid that out.

"Cec always offered excellent variety from the players in action on the floor to the coaches screaming courtside. And yes, he always provided memorable shots of the referees, the cheerleaders and the crowds too."

In March, 1995, the Welland Sports Promotion Committee recognized Mr. Mitchell's dedication by presenting him a special award for the tournament's 40th anniversary.

In 2005, the tournament committee presented Mr. Mitchell with a lifetime pass to the tournament, also in recognition of his dedication and service.

Redshaw noted Mr. Mitchell was like "a permanent fixture" at the basketball tournament, he enjoyed it so much.

Innovation Flows Here.

It's about the kids, and the community

By Joe Barkovich

Jack Custers is tuned in to both.

The manager of programming and community relations at Cogeco's Your TV, Custers has a relationship with the Tribune Tournament that goes back about four decades.

It started when he was a high school volunteer with Maclean-Hunter in the early 1980s. That led to attending the broadcasting program at Niagara College and a wide range of coverage opportunities both within the college and the larger community.

After graduating from the college, there was no opening at Maclean-Hunter but Armstrong Cable had an opening so he moved - from St. Catharines to Welland where Armstrong was based.

Now 61, Custers says he still relishes getting out into local communities and playing a part in telling their stories to a large audience of viewers.

"While the industry has changed quite a bit, what hasn't changed — we're still telling local stories and promoting local people. We get to tell the story whether it's about a local sports team or a local club or a charity, for example, and I really enjoy that. A lot of community organizations don't have much or any advertising budget, we can provide the coverage for them."

The basketball tournament became one of his favourite annual events years ago.

"For me, the best part about it is, it promotes our local kids, and also our crew as well. A lot are high school students. When you see them do a game that involves their own high school, I think they're privately cheering for their team."

It's about the kids, and the community

The tournament showcases local talent, says Custers, and his station — YourTV — showcases the tournament with its coverage of the championship evening where the consolation champions and the tournament champions are decided.

“Showcasing our kids, that’s the big thing for me. The parents, maybe they can’t make it to the big game but they can watch it at home. And they can keep it in the family archives for many years. It can become a piece of history, maybe 10 or 20 years from now they might want to look back and see how young they looked.”

Custers fondly remembers the tournament’s 50th anniversary in 2005. He recalls the excitement generated by the event.

“It was a piece of history. It was a big deal for everybody.”

Custers relishes the camaraderie that is a hallmark of the tournament.

“We work with the committee, we call Notre Dame (site of the championship games) to make arrangements to access the gym. Everyone works together to make our job easy. It’s been a great run, I wouldn’t change anything about it.”
